Self Portraits

1955; 1954; Undated

Vivian Maier was an American photographer whose work was only discovered and recognized after her death. She worked for about 40 years as a nanny in Chicago. Her series of self-portraits are very fascinating because of how unique each one is. Since her death, her work has been exhibited all over the world. The families that she worked described her as a very private person who would spend all of her time out taking photographs.
