CHARLES MOORE

American, 1931 - 2010

Birmingham, Alabama

1963

Charles Moore was born in Alabama and was instilled with compassion by his father who was a minister. After boxing in the military, he exchanged his fists for a camera, and fought for civil rights legislation through his images by bringing the atrocities of the South to the eyes of the masses, which brought a visceral realization for a need for change in much of the American people.