

SUSAN WORSHAM

American, b. 1969

Communion

2013

Susan Worsham is a native of Richmond, VA, whose autobiographical work centers around her past hardships and relationships growing up in the South. This particular photo relates to the topic of decay by illustrating the natural breakdown of organic material over time, and contrasting that with a religious setting that typically voices longevity and permanence, both within and after life.